Loopmasters Products and Reviews

Whether you are a Jazz guitarist looking for authentic Jazz drums, a keyboard player who needs a solid rock bass line or a House, Techno or Drum and Bass producer looking for a palette of authentic and up to the minute royalty free sounds to inspire your productions – Loopmasters.com is the place to find exactly what you need every time.

Loopmasters have a pedigree in sounds design which is based wholly on the contributions of some of the worlds most respected sound designers, and by the fact that we use experts in their genre for every project rather than trying to do everything ourselves. Centrally we quality check everything and do all format converting to ensure the end product is always delivered with our quality seal, and we work very closely with the Artists, Musicians and Producers involved in our projects to ensure a consistently high end result – and great feedback from our customers.

If you haven't heard of Loopmasters before and you make music with samples, you will usually find our products have been created with compatibility in mind, and whether you use Mac or PC, hardware or software – you should not have any problems in utilising our sounds in your music.

“This is a journey into sound, Coldcut style! A more varied sample pack you will not find...” (iDJ review of Artist Series Sound Science Coldcut)

“...by virtue of being a timeless collection, this is one we'll be dipping in and out of for 10 years!” (DJ Mag review of Marshall Jefferson 10/10)

“The final word? Awesome. And much more clever than a cursory listen with an untrained ear could ever tell.”
(DJ Mag review of Chris Cowie – Full Marks)

Wave Alchemy

Wave Alchemy is an innovative sound design company based in Nottingham in the United Kingdom. We specialize in the development of cutting edge sample libraries which are produced to perfection using a wide range of vintage and new age recording equipment.

We pride ourselves on giving you access to 100% original royalty free samples which have been meticulously crafted and engineered from the ground up. Some sample developers tend to source many of their sounds from old records and other people's commercial music. We are completely against this and provide our customers only with original sounds designed and created using high end studio equipment.

We work night and day for up to 3 months per release to produce the most up to date, fresh and inspirational sounds we can.

Everything goes into what we do... our years of experience, skills from our studies, our hearts and souls, our blood, sweat and tears... everything. Hopefully this shows in our products and helps to inspire you to create music!

Our objective is to raise the bar within the sample music industry and give you access to extremely high quality samples at a very reasonable price.

Infrasonik

Infrasonik

Designed for electronic music producers, composers, and laptop DJs and performers, Infrasonik's sample packs are constructed to maximise the unique and powerful features of Ableton Live, Kontakt, and Absynth.

Infrasonik's philosophy is redefining the traditional audio sample pack into a powerful production environment that include effects chains, dynamics and EQ processing, macro controls, and channel strip presets that expand the sonic possibilities of your software.

Are we fanboys or fangirls of Ableton and Kontakt? Maybe. Do we love working with Ableton and Kontakt? Absolutely! Out of this obsession, Infrasonik.com was born as the hive mind collaborative effort of a group of producers and sound design fanatics who all love working with Live, Kontakt, and Absynth.

Creating sample packs for Ableton Live is especially exciting as Live is evolving into a monster hybrid of sampling, time stretching, real time remixing, arrangement, sound design, routing, DJing, and live performance.

Galbanum

G A L B A N U M

Galbanum produces future-forward, industry-leading software products and sound-design tools for some of the best companies and artists in the industry. Galbanum's twin passions are "sonic science" and "aural allusion" and its products strive always to balance industry leading technical excellence with a connection to, and expansion of, the human condition.

Galbanum's Architecture Line of advanced sound-design resources are used by some of the best and most knowledgeable sound-designers in the world. Architecture resources are created with proprietary DSP processes, unreleased low level mathematical tools, esoteric computer music scripting languages, and other miscellaneous top-secret rocket science.

Galbanum uses the power of this unique private research to create its Sample and Synth Expansion Line products as well, allowing for a level of detail and precision that was previously impossible. Its meticulously designed software products synergistically exploit the advantages of this detail and precision and tightly integrate it into various supported standards while taking advantage of the strengths of the given loop format or host synthesizer. The result is plug-and-play bliss for the casual user who now has instant access to the bleeding edge without the blood, sweat and tears normally associated with it.

Cluster Sound

Cluster Sound was created in 2007 under the direction of Antonio Dilillo, composer and sound designer who, following his experience with M-Audio, decided to create the first Italian company active in the area of audio libraries. Cluster Sound draws on the collaboration of musicians, DJs, sound designers and marketing experts who share a love for electronic sounds and the world of DJ-ing.

Cluster Sound products are fully dedicated to producers and DJs working in electronic music. Cluster Sound designs and creates sound tools that are built around quality, user-friendliness and longevity. Their goal is to offer world class libraries that are easy-to-use and affordable, making it possible for anyone to approach professional musical composition in a simple, immediate way.
